Subject: Implementation of Ban on single use plastic in campus of Higher Education Institutions.

आदरणीय महोदया/महोदय,

As we all recognize, the urgency to reduce our reliance on plastic, particularly single-use plastics, has never been more critical. The detrimental effects of these materials extend far beyond immediate convenience; they pose severe long-term challenges that threaten our environment, public health, waste management systems, and involve significant cleanup costs. It is imperative that we take decisive and immediate action to phase out single-use plastics from our daily lives.

Higher Education Institutions (HEIs) play a vital and multifaceted role in addressing this pressing issue. They not only educate students on the importance of environmental stewardship but also engage in impactful research that fosters a deeper understanding of sustainable practices. By connecting with local communities and encouraging activism, HEIs can cultivate a sense of ethical citizenship among their students and faculty, ultimately contributing to a more informed and socially responsible society.

To support this mission, the University Grants Commission (UGC) has developed guidelines aimed at curbing plastic use within Higher Education Institutions. These guidelines have been disseminated for adoption, and the UGC regularly issues advisories encouraging HEIs to lessen their plastic consumption, particularly focusing on single-use items and proper disposal methods for plastic waste. For your convenience, a copy of these guidelines is attached.

CONTINUATION SHEET

As we move forward, we again urge Higher Education Institutions to amplify their efforts in tackling the pervasive issue of single-use plastics. This initiative is crucial not only for protecting our environment but also for safeguarding human health, addressing waste management challenges, combating climate change, and promoting economic sustainability. Implementing such a ban can catalyze a transformative shift towards the adoption of more sustainable materials and practices, ultimately benefiting both our planet and society as a whole.
